Introduction

Adopt An Actor was an Education project that ran between 1998 and 2018. This aimed, for the first time, to involve schoolchildren of all ages and abilities in the collaborative, practical and creative process of bringing a role in Shakespeare from the page to the stage - from the first rehearsal to the final performance. However, the scheme also had a cross-curricular character: as well as English, the Adopt an Actor scheme embraced Theatre Studies, Information Technology and Textiles. Therefore, in addition to the actor's perspective, the learners also had access to content from people in a range of backstage roles. It was a unique opportunity for schools to experience Shakespeare and the workings of the theatre from the inside.

Actors volunteered to be adopted. The relationship was not intended to be just one-way, students being able to question the actor they had adopted. It was also envisaged that learners could offer their suggestions as to how particular scenes might be played or which aspects of the character should be expressed - and compare those with the ideas aired in the company. It was suggested that the insights of the classroom would find their way onto the stage of the theatre.

How to find project resources

The catalogue for this project is arranged so that the bulletins for individual actors are grouped by play, in chronological order. In addition, other relevant archival materials, specific to the project in a given season, but not to a play are grouped together by year.

In many cases, you can access PDFs as embedded multimedia and, in some cases, there are links out to URLs for SoundCloud, giving access to clips of the actors answering questions. The description will normally tell you which institutions adopted the actor, briefly describe the multimedia and, until the transition to podcasts, list the questions asked to produce the answers in the clips.

In many cases, the archive has additional files that can be accessed only on-site in the reading room. These may include: the raw audio of interviews, from which the bulletins were drawn, or clips made; drafts of published documents; or files identifying learners.

The related material field links to other interviews with the actor with respect to the same role, including for the early years of the project the Research Bulletins.

Starting Points

If, as is likely, you don't wish to work your way through the whole collections in chronological order, appendices below give access to the project in different ways:

by play (Appendix 1a-1c)

by touring production (Appendix 1d)

by Director (Appendix 1e)

by interviewee (Appendix 2a)

by character name (Appendix 2b).

by Original Practices production, including but not limited to Original Pronunciation (Appendix 3)

History of the Project

Adopt an Actor was established as a GlobeLink Project in February 1998, free but open only to GlobeLink members (UK £20/year; rest of the world £25/year).

Bulletins relating to the plays, the roles and the experience of the actors were initially relayed to and from classroom and rehearsal room by letter, fax, E-mail and over the Internet. Although the proposed project name was changed at the suggestion of Fiona Banks (from Adopt a Character), the bulletins seem always to have been listed as 'Character Name played by Actor Name'.

In theory, each month, participating schools (for all ages and abilities) would also be sent a range of tasks tailored to their needs, with content for teachers beyond English and Drama. It was suggested, for example that "Students will be able to design their own costume, or work from designs used in the productions in order to learn about the fabrics, leathers and dyes used in the creation of 16th and 17th century clothing" and notes were included on costume fittings, and fabric samples and photographs of fabric samples were shared with learners.

From c.1999, in addition to the established introductory, rehearsal and performance bulletins, end of run interviews were conducted as part of Adopt an Actor with clips made available on the site by the end of each year.

By 2010, Adopt an Actor, although still developed by Education, moved away from being an interactive school's programme: transcripts of bulletins from the rehearsal and performance periods and some audio clips now available on the general website were now termed podcasts. From c.2010, the transcripts began to include the interviewers' questions as well as the actors' responses. When the redesigned general website was launched in April 2019, the existing content was taken down to be made available through the archive catalogue.

The Project was re-imagined as Ask An Actor in 2019, and recordings were made under that aegis for the Globe productions of Henry IV Part 1, Henry V, Merry Wives of Windsor, A Midsummer Night's Dream and As You Like It in the Sam Wanamaker Playhouse. This was subsequently paused due to the Coronavirus pandemic.
